

Year End Report VP Competitive

I will be formally stepping down after this season from the VP of Competitive role. This year has been a bit different for me as my son decided not to play. So, for the first time in 10 years, I did not spend near as much time at the rink. I would like to thank the Chebucto for all the great times, training and friendships made along the way.

Our tryout process this year went great. We had many less issues due to the closing of doors to bystanders, and I think made for a better all-around experience for players and volunteers. With the changing from Team Genius to Grey Jay came with a few hiccups but all in all we managed to get through and should make the years to come easier. The use of the website and emails worked great to get the schedules out to people in a timely manor and avoided confusion.

Thanks,

Morgan Burke
